The 1998 Yearbook is Dedicated to President James.

ROWAN UNIVERSITY
President's Office

December 10, 1997

Dear Members of the Class of 1998

As you know, I have decided to step down as President of Rowan University at the end of this year. The decision was a very difficult one for my family and me; the past fourteen years have been the happiest and most rewarding period of my life

When I assumed the presidency in 1984, I set out to accomplish several major institutional goals. With the cooperative efforts of the faculty, staff, and students, we have reached these goals.

It is now time for me to step aside and allow new leadership and new ideas guide Rowan University to the next level. This will provide me with the time to do what I have been dreaming about for years – to return to the classroom as a university professor Transitions of this kind are always difficult, however I will be supported by many happy memories of our Rowan University family. Among my fondest recollections are those of my interactions with the student body. Move-in days, commencement ceremonies, SGA meetings, homecomings, awards banquets, sporting events, artistic performances, Project Santa, and casual conversations on my campus walks are all memories that I will forever treasure.

Most indelible among my remembrances will be those associated with the Class of 1998 – my final graduating class as president. Please accept my personal thanks for your support these past several years and my best as you move ahead with your careers and your lives. I wish you God's speed.

Sincerely,

Herman D. James
President

CAMDEN CAMPUS

Rowan has been providing educational opportu-ties to the Camden community throughout s branch since 1969. Students may take classes t both campuses if they wish.
Camden offers three degree programs: Element Education/Early Childhood, Law/Justice, and ciology. Complete curriculum for these und-graduate degrees is offered at Camden. In ad-tional, a certification program in special educati special programs and many elective courses available. Professors from the main campus a adjunct professors teach in Camden.

ROWAN'S TEAM PLAYERS

This year, the Profs added another outstanding chapter to what has become a richtradition of Rowan Football by going undefeated in the regular season. Playoff victories over Coast Guard and TCNJ ran the team's record to a perfect 11-0. NJAC Coach of the Year K.C. Keller had plenty of weapons on both sides of the ball to count on. Quarterback Greg Lister threw for 1,894 yards and 21 touchdowns in earning NJAC Offensive Player of the Year honors for the third consecutive season. He was joined on the first team by offensive teammates Eugene Foster, Burt Chaney, Andre Rhym, Jason Dorsey, and William Spearman. Safety Terrick Grace was named the Co-Defensive Player of the Year while Alex Rodriguez, Tom Nolan, and Damon Troy also received First Team honors.

On defense, senior Sheena Marston earned All-Conference honors, leading the team in assists while freshman Moriah Holstrom was the NJAC Rookie-of-the-Year. Senior forwards Christina Ingram and Joleen Jaworski, and juniors Dana Reynolds and Stephanie Andre were also significant factors in the team's strong year.

WOMEN'S SOCCER

Playing a number of their games within the extremely challenging New Jersey Athletic Conference, the women's soccer team more than earned their impressive 13-5-1 mark. Coach Dan Isidor had the luxury of running one of the best goaltenders in the league in Karen Little, who earned Second Team NJAC honors while posting eight shutouts and an 0.83 goals-against-average. Backfielder Michele McGowan made First Team in leading the Profs' defensive efforts, leading scorer Stephanie Allocco and backfielder Suzanne Greenberg were named to the Second Team, and forward Crystal Feo and midfielder Eleanor Humphreys earned honorable mentions.

MEN'S SOCCER

Once again, the Profs earned a bid to the NCAA Tournament by combining a potent offensive attack with a physical backfield and stingy goaltending. Kevin Ridpath posted six solo shutouts en route to NJAC Co-Goalkeeper of the Year honors. David Hesch finished first on the scoring list, and Nick Papanicolas paced the team with ten goals. Rich Dixon and Justin Abbey also played important roles at the forward position. Midfielder Mike Hayes (First Team) and backfielders Chris Swanger (Second Team) and Heath Mahoney (Honorable Mention) also received conference honors. Coach Dan Gilmore's squad finished at 15-6.

CROSS COUNTRY

Coached by Bill Fritz, the men and women's cross country teams enjoyed a great amount of success both as a group and individually. Both squads placed first at the Wagner College Invitational in the opening meet of the year and at the College Championships three weeks later. The men were represented well all year by Sean Mick, Adam Huber, and Adam Van Antwerp while Bronawyn Hagen, Suzanne Dorrell, and Erica More regularly placed at the top for the women. Mick, Huber, Hagen, and Dorrell all qualified to run in the NCAA Championships in Boston at the end of the season.

ond straight year and posted a ning record (18-15) for the first e since the program was reim-mented three years ago. The hlight of the Profs' season was ard-fought win over William terson in the first round of the rnament, in which the team ed from two games down to e the best-of-five match.
ach Libby Ranero had senior tains Jane Gheilerman and Tram honoree.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

Continuing on a run of outstanding seasons under Candace Crabtree, the Profs finished 1997 with a second consecutive NJAC championship and made it to the second round of the NCAA Tournament. Jenn Denby starred by hitting the 1,000 point plateau and finished the year with All American honors. In addition, she was named to First Team as the Player of the Year. Takiyah Bowen also received First Team honors. An impressive class of young recruits has made the future of the Rowan women look bright.

MEN'S BASKETBALL

Playing with a veteran squad, the men's basketball team posted a record of 26-3 in their first season under coach Joe Cassidy. They were a force once again in the NCAA Tournament, defending the national title won the previous campaign. Forward Lamonte Harvin and guard Ryan Cochrane received the honor of being named to the ECAC First Team, while forward Chris McShane was a Second Team nominee. Added offense came from Andy Thies and Rob Scott, who each averaged in double figures in scoring. Youth should serve the Profs well this year, as a number of new faces will join in the mix.

SWIMMING

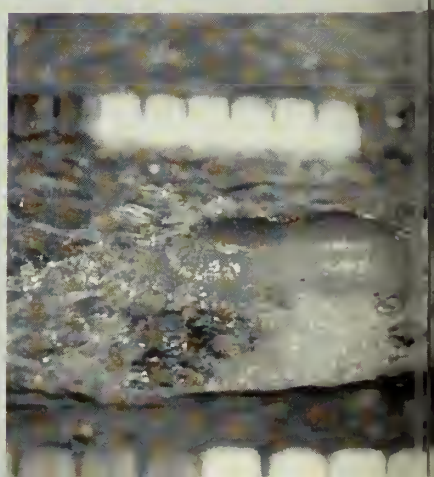

Coach Tony Lisa's men and women gave it their all once again and put up some amazing meets and times in the process. At the National Championships which concluded the season, Rowan represented well by Teri Hatcher, who earned All-American honors, Ruth MacDonald, Donna Restivo, Eric Dinsmore, and Mike Wilkinson. The team also received top-notch performances from their divers all year, helping them to be successful in many ways.

LACROSSE

Coach Mary Marino and the Rowan lacrosse team witnessed a major improvement and strides towards a conference title with a 10-3 record. The Profs posted a four-game win streak at mid-season and also ran off a pair of three-game win streaks. Included in this was an incredible 21-1 annihilation of Widener; overall, the team out-scored their opponents 141-102. Attacker Mary Kate Madden made the NJAC All Conference second team, and the IWLCA South Atlantic Regional All-American second team. Diane Brownell received IWLCA first team honors, while Julie Renshaw was named to the second team. Beatrice Vuocolo had a solid year in goal.

SOFTBALL

der the direction of first-year ach Kim Wilson, the Rowan ftball team put together a ccessful 35-5 season which cluded a 22-game winning eak. Melissa Maxwell led the ching staff by being named the NJAC All Conference am, and the Profs hitting at-ck was led by the bats of Tif-ny Miller, Crystal Feo, and ichelle Andre. First baseman mi Musey was named a NJAC ayer of the Year and short-op Stephanie Allocco took e honors of NJAC Rookie of e Year.

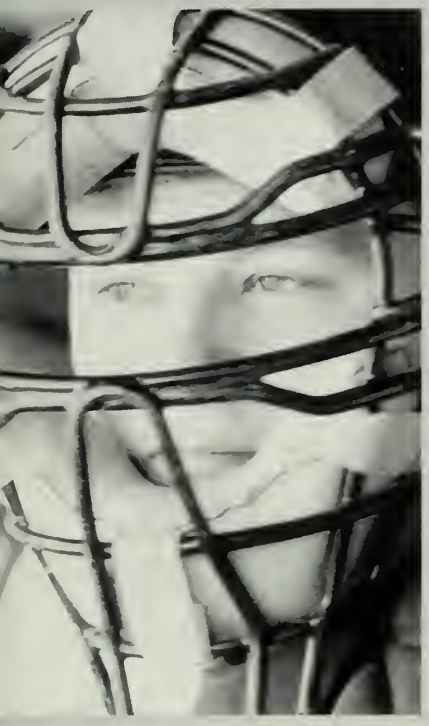

BASEBALL

The Rowan baseball squad continued a string of successful campaigns under Coach Juan Ranero by finishing at 28-11, and 15-3 within the tough New Jersey Athletic Conference. On the mound, Henry Williams received NJCBA Pitcher of the Year honors and was named to the NJAC All Conference first team. Right fielder John Costello and designated hitter Charlie Shudtz also made first team, while John Yurkow was named to the second team and Ian Enders and Tom Jones were honorable mentions. Andy Vincente garnered a number of merit honors, including NJAC Academic All-Conference team.

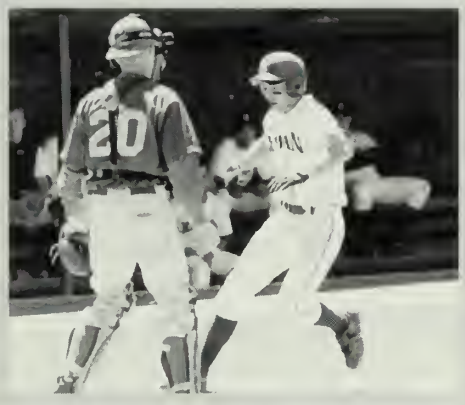

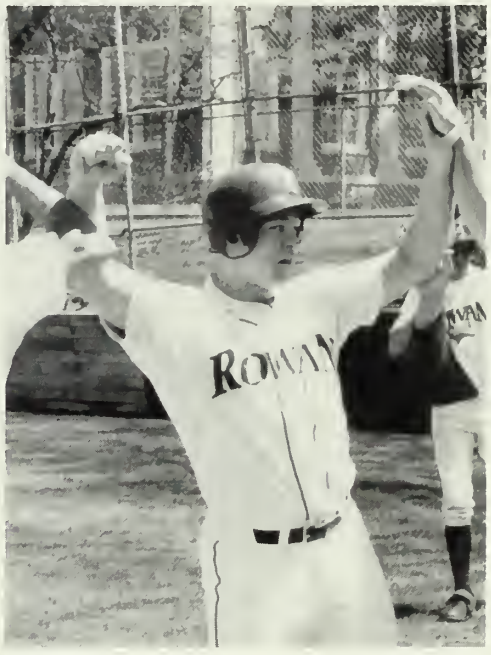

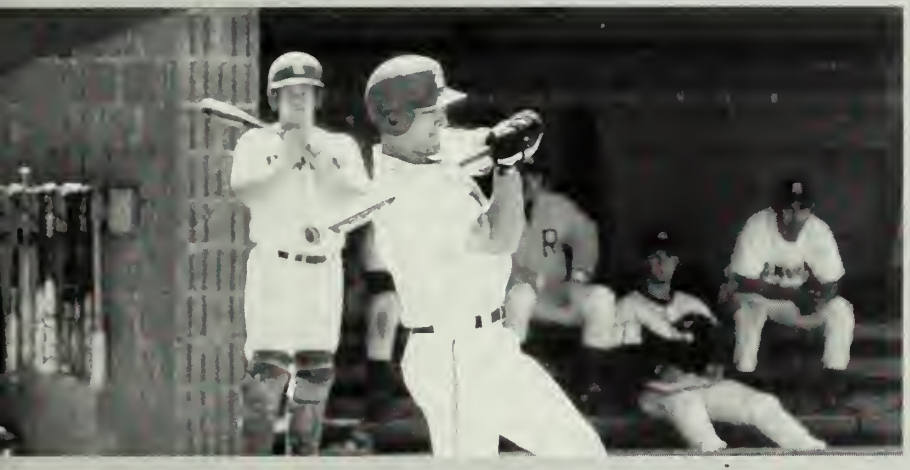

TRACK AND FIELD

Rowan's track and field teams put up many accomplishments to be proud of. Under the direction of Bill Fritz, the men sent numerous athletes to the NCAA Championships. Javelin thrower Ed Colleton, long jumper William Spearman, and sprinters Sean Mick, Rich Dixon, and William Cruz all qualified for the meet. Other impressive performances came in the NJ College Championships, where the women received top efforts from Jill DeLucio in the discus, Carrie Baber in the high jump, and Bronawyn Hagen in the distance events.

All work and no play?...

A Farewell to Dean Hoffner...

After 31 years of diligent service, Wayne Hoffner has retired from the position of Dean of Students at Rowan University. Dean Hoffner will be greatly missed by administrators and students alike. Throughout the years, he has been firm yet fair, welcoming students with a warm smile and an open door policy. Before joining the administrative staff at Rowan, Hoffner worked at Sterling High School and Camden County College and taught in Philadelphia and Pitman school districts. Hoffner currently does part-time volunteer work for Habitat for Humanity. Despite his retirement, Hoffner wishes to remain involved in Rowan's campus life by keeping up-to-date on administrative developments and attending various athletic competitions. Beyond that, the former Dean of Students plans to enjoy the benefits of retirement. The members of the yearbook staff thank you for several years of dedicated service and wish you continued health and happiness in the future.

Bookends

"Our revels now are ended..."1 Books with bindings cracked are shelved — ended — with pages worn from study,
each pressing memories and stirring time.

Time — it was ages ago,
or so it seems, when we were like crocuses pushing through the snow, reveling beneath the weight of a winter's powder.
Peppering the backdrop of a white canvased ground,
we splashed our painted faces, peering upward,
ushering in an affirmation of Spring.
The frost failed to pierce our roots or hinder our growth. We pushed, and poked through, imparting faces of blue and purple, brights and pales:
Hundreds of faces, poking — reaching.

Reaching for the final book to be shelved — ended — the winter's weight.
And we, a multitude of faces,
"We are such stuff as dreams are made on..."2
